

RELIGIOUS STUDIES, B.A.

or REL 499 Senior Seminar

Total Credits

30

The major program in religious studies includes four interrelated areas of study: comparative religion, biblical studies, Christianity and Christian ethics. A candidate for this degree must complete courses in each area for a total of 10 courses plus the two per the general university requirements, for a total of 12 courses (36 credits) overall. Units assigned to each discipline may, with departmental advisement, be modified to meet the career needs of students.

Majors should consult course descriptions for classifications of each course.
